DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group 1, claim(s) 1-16, drawn to a vaccine for inducing an immune response in a mammal.

Group 2, claim(s) 17-32, drawn to a prophylactic or therapeutic method of treatment of infection.

Group 3, claim(s) 33-47, drawn to a method of treatment of a disease or disorder associated with or exacerbated by infection.

The inventions listed as Groups 1-3 do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: In the instant case the technical feature linking the groups is the vaccine of claim 1. The vaccine of claim 1 is anticipated by Pascale et al, Infection and Immunity 67(2):805-809, 1999 because Pascale et al teach the claimed vaccine see particularly the abstract and the section entitled "Antigens and adjuvant" on page 806 and "Experimental groups" on page 806 and results on pages 806-808, Table 1, Figure 1 and the discussion. Pascale et al is cited by the International Examiner and is of record on an information disclosure statement in this application. As such, the technical feature is not "special" within the meaning of PCT Rule 13.2 as it does not define a technical feature over the prior art.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows: Groups I or II, applicants should elect a single genus and species of pathogen described in the specification or recited in claims.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Group III: specie A: applicants should elect a single genus/species of pathogen described in the specification or recited in claims and Specie B: applicants should elect a single disease or condition recited in claim 47.

For Group III, Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single combination of species A and species B to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: 1-9, 17-25 and 33-41.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: In the instant case the technical feature linking the groups is the vaccine of claim 1. The vaccine of claim 1 is anticipated by Pascale et al, Infection and Immunity 67(2):805-809, 1999 because Pascale et al teach the claimed vaccine see particularly the abstract and the section entitled "Antigens and adjuvant" on page 806 and "Experimental groups" on page 806 and results on pages 806-808, Table 1, Figure 1 and the discussion. Pascale et al is cited by the International Examiner and is of record on an information disclosure statement in this application. As such, the technical feature is not "special" within the meaning of PCT Rule 13.2 as it does not define a technical feature over the prior art.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
